DON

The summer I turned fifteen, I lied about my age so I could join AGVA - you know - the night club union. I worked this one club for about 8 weeks straight and I really became friendly with this stripper....Lola Latores, and her dynamite, twin forty fours. Well, she really took to me. I mean, we did share the only dressing room, and she did a lot of dressing.

Anyway, she used to come and pick me up and drive me to work nights. And I'd come tripping out of my house in my little tuxedo and my tap shoes in my hand and we'd drive off down the block with her long, flaming red hair just blowing in the wind.

Well, when all the guys on the block saw Lola, they all wanted to know what the story was, and I told them about this big hot romance we were having, but actually she was going with this guy who was much older than her.
